Minister for Regional Development, Local Government and Territories
Federal Member for Eden-Monaro

To the residents of the Indian Ocean Territories,

I am thrilled the Prime Minister asked me to take on the position of Minister for Regional Development, Local Government and Territories. This means I will proudly join the new Member for Lingiari, Marion Scrymgour, as one of your voices in Canberra.

I plan to visit the Indian Ocean Territories as soon as possible, to meet with you face-to-face, to learn more about your extraordinary local environment and multicultural communities, and to discuss our shared priorities for your communities moving forward.

I will support and champion the Indian Ocean Territories and I look forward to working with you to explore sustainable pathways for the economy and local businesses.

Together we will identify how best to harness your incredible natural assets to grow emerging sectors and support the small, family-run businesses that are the backbone of your local economies.

As the former Mayor of a regional council and a small business owner, I understand the challenges and opportunities facing regional and remote communities like Christmas Island and the Cocos (Keeling) Islands.

Growing up in a small, coastal New South Wales town, helping my parents run an independent sporting goods store, I experienced the benefits of living in - and helping to build - a close-knit community. It was these experiences that formed my values and work ethic.

I have seen how the challenges of distance and small populations can mean communities like yours can be left behind when it comes to reliable supply chains and improvements to service delivery and infrastructure.

I am committed to working with the Administrator, my department, our partners in Western Australia and the local Shires to advocate for and support innovative and modern solutions that achieve the best outcomes for your community and economy.

I am greatly looking forward to experiencing the rich and diverse cultures of Christmas Island and the Cocos (Keeling) Islands first hand, and seeing for myself the extraordinary natural environment of your island homes.

Membesar di sebuah bandar kecil, di pesisir pantai New South Wales, membantu orang tua saya menjalankan kedeh barang olahraga, saya merasakan manfaat tinggal di – dan membantu membangunkan – masyarakat yang rapat. Pengalaman inilah yang membentuk nilai dan aturan kerja saya.

Saya telah melihat bagaimana cabaran tempat jauh dan masyarakat kecil boleh bermakna masyarakat seperti anda boleh ketinggalan dalam hal persediaan yang boleh dipercayai dan peningkatan penyampaian serbis dan infrastruktur.

Saya berkomitmen untuk bekerja dengan Administrator, departmen saya, rakan kami di Western Australia dan Shire tempatan untuk menyokong penyelesaian inovatif dan moden yang mencapai hasil terbaik untuk masyarakat dan ekonomi anda.

Home Island Entry Statement & Water Tank Murals Completed!

Over the course of time, murals have covered the interiors and exteriors of many public buildings, such as palaces, temples, tombs, museums, libraries, churches and the houses of rich art patrons, spreading onto the streets and architectural elements more recently, all the while keeping their initial meaning and purpose: to paint a picture of society, created from stories, values, dreams, change.

People dream and wonder about special places and what better place is to be living on a unique piece of haven on the Cocos Islands. The students from Cocos Islands District High School and local artist Mat Macrae have added value in our community. Community murals are a mode of expression for artists in every graphic style imaginable: abstract, photorealistic, surrealist, expressionist, and graffiti, to name just a few.

Most recently, murals have become community centrepieces that bring people together to celebrate the heritage and history of their home.

It's no secret: murals make communities beautiful! They add colour to building walls and structures that would otherwise go unnoticed, which is a treat for locals and visitors alike. Murals attract new local businesses, help bring customers to pre-existing locations, and boost the morale of a community. Lawry has left a few hidden local characters in the artworks see if you can spot them on the water tank mural. Take a photo and send it to us on Facebook.

Lawry the Artist in Residence was truly amazing. He imparted so much of his knowledge in using the various painting mediums. The students and Mat were really inspired by his dedication. His vision of an entry statement to Cocos surpassed our expectations. His take our culture and strengths of our community was splashed across the blank canvas of the retail precinct. We would like to encourage our local kids and artists to take the lead on our next mural project.

Get specific and get painting....

Our invite to community members. Decide on what part of our community we could use to be “activated” or benefit most from a beautification project. Ugly and windowless walls are perfect; they have the most to gain from a makeover. Create a shortlist of four or five walls that are the best candidates. There is usually no shortage of walls that would make great canvases for a mural. Send the list to us via email cdc@cocos.wa.gov.au . Public art tours are a great way to interact with a community and its art!

Vehicle fees, transfers and licensing changes - Cocos (Keeling) Islands

Vehicle examination fees 2022-23

Vehicle examination fees are updated annually and are effective from 1 July each year.

The new 2022-23 vehicle examination fees are advised in a Community Bulletin released from the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development, Communications and the Arts.

Note: Vehicle examination fees will not be applied on Cocos (Keeling) Islands until an Authorised Inspection Station (AIS) service provider has been officially appointed.

The changes to vehicle transfer and licensing below will be applied to Cocos (Keeling) Islands from 1 September 2022:

Vehicle licence transfer

If you purchase a used IOT vehicle, you will be issued a vehicle transfer invoice (transfer fee and vehicle licence duty).

You have 28 days to pay the invoice. Failure to pay by the due date will result in the issue of an Infringement Notice and further costs may apply.

Vehicle licence

Where payment of a Vehicle Licence and Motor Injury Insurance Policy has expired, you must either renew the licence immediately or return the number plates to the Motor Vehicle Registry (MVR) within three months of the vehicle licence expiry date.

Failure to do so will result in the issue of an Infringement Notice and further costs may apply. You must not drive your vehicle if the vehicle licence is expired.

Defect notice (also known as a Yellow Sticker or Work Order)

If a Defect Notice has been placed on your vehicle you are required to either:

- fix the defects, pay for an inspection at the Motor Vehicle Registry (MVR) and present the vehicle at an Authorised Inspection Station; or
- return the number plates to the MVR.

If you return the number plates you will be eligible for a refund of any unused licence period. If the number plates are not returned an Infringement Notice will be issued and further costs may apply.

How can you avoid being issued a penalty?

- Pay outstanding vehicle licence transfer fees.
- Attend the MVR and renew your unlicensed vehicle if the vehicle licence has expired less than three months.
- If the vehicle licence has expired more than three months an inspection will be required.
- Return the vehicle plates to the MVR if you choose not to licence your vehicle.
- If you are unable to locate the vehicle plates please attend the MVR and fill out a Lost/Stolen Number Plates Notification form.
- If your vehicle has been issued with a defect notice (yellow sticker) either return the vehicle plates to the MVR or have the defects fixed and arrange through the MVR to have your vehicle inspected.

Here’s a fun thing to do with the kids each morning in Iso. Rameer’s job was to make Mak and Pak Izahan’s bed each day. He could choose to either get paid for this chore, or play some games on the iPad.

I think we can all see here that he prefers screen time more than the pocket money!
