What's On

Volunteer Appreciation Dinner

How do you say 'Thanks' to the many volunteers on Cocos.

Appreciating the support and dedication by many of our volunteers is a difficult one. However, a gesture like hosting a dinner is the least the Shire can do.

Supported generously by our sponsors.
Altitude & The Cocos Islands Cooperative Society.

It was overwhelming and rewarding to see the turnout to the Volunteer Appreciation Dinner held at the Tropika Restaurant on Wednesday 21st September. The Shire Councillors, The Administrator and around 70 volunteers and their families attended the event.

Volunteers from both Islands celebrated together in mutual admiration of their community of which they are very proud of.

Giving up time in service of others is a core pillar of thriving communities. Particularly in the current challenging, and unpredictable times, the acknowledgement of the crucial role that volunteering plays in our society is paramount.

'Thank You' to our 100 or more solid band of volunteers on Cocos who shape this great community of ours.

Volunteering is always a labour of love, and it is the responsibility of the community to show appreciation for its volunteers. Saying thank you and showing volunteer appreciation can come in many forms. The next time you need to say thank you volunteers, don't be afraid to get creative! It really does pay to give your volunteers some love and recognition.

Volunteers are performing acts of generosity and deserve to receive thanks for their donation of personal time and energy. Extending a formal statement of gratitude to volunteers is an important part of developing your organizational community. And volunteer appreciation represents a huge part of building that culture.

A 'Shout Out!' goes out to Water Corporation and Cocos Autos. Assisting behind the scenes and support. The Management and staff at the Tropika deserve a standing ovation for all the set up and the amazing dinner.

Junior Ranger Day on DI

We would like to share some snippets from our Junior Ranger day on Direction Island last Thursday. Thank you to the Shire for supporting this activity and all the wonderful helpers including Shire staff, parents and the Cocos Youth Council. Special thanks for the second ferry to get the Home Islanders over to Direction Island so they could be part of the fun.

We started the day by picking up marine rubbish off the beach.

We left the beach looking cleaner and later used the items for our art project .

We learnt how to navigate using a compass.

We had to identify the native plants, but with a twist— with our eyes closed using only touch.

We learnt how to build a fire and start it using a flint and steel. Well done Adi!

We learnt that Cocos has a National Park called Pulu Keeling which has special birds and animals that are not found on any other islands on Cocos. It is also free from threats like feral cats and rats, lots of people, buildings and roads.

A great turnout by Home and West Island children and families!

Investigating deep sea-life in the Indian Ocean Territories Menyelidiki kehidupan laut dalam di Indian Ocean Territories

From around 13 to 17 October a large high tech looking ship will be visible around Cocos. This will be the CSIRO research vessel (RV) Investigator. Marine scientists from around Australia are on-board as part of a 35-day voyage to explore the marine area around Cocos (Keeling) Islands. The scientists and technicians on board will be mapping the seafloor and surveying the sea-life that lives at great depths in this part of the Indian Ocean.

RV Investigator is part of the Marine National Facility, which is operated by CSIRO, Australia’s national science agency. It’s 94 metres long and 9 stories high. The big white dome above the bridge measures atmosphere conditions and the smaller ones are for internet and radio communications. The A-frame at the rear of the boat is to lower cameras and other research equipment into the water. On board are 52 crew, technicians and scientists from all around the country.

Dari sekitar 13 hingga 17 Oktober sebuah kapal besar kelihatan berteknologi tinggi akan terlihat di sekitar Cocos. Ini adalah kapal research CSIRO (RV) Investigator. Saintis marin dari seluruh Australia ada di kapal sebagai bagian dari perjalanan selama 35 hari untuk menyelidiki kawasan laut sekitar Pulu Cocos. Saintis dan technicians di kapal akan membuat mapping bawah laut dan melihat kehidupan laut yang hidup di kedalaman yang sangat dalam di bahagian Indian Ocean.

RV Investigator adalah bagian dari Marine National Facility, yang dijalankan oleh CSIRO, agensi sains kebangsaan Australia. Panjangnya 94 meter dan tingginya 9 tingkat. Dome putih yang besar di atas kapal mengukur keadaan udara dan yang lebih kecil adalah untuk internet dan radio. A-frame di bagian belakang kapal adalah untuk menurunkan gambar dan bekekas research yang lain ke dalam ayer. Ada 52 krew di kapal, technicians dan saintis dari seluruh negara.

My name is Tim O’Hara from Museums Victoria in Melbourne, and I am the chief scientist for this voyage. I am pretty excited to be exploring the waters around Cocos (Keeling) Islands. I had hoped to meet members of the community and provide an opportunity for people to come on board the ship, but unfortunately, the ship’s COVID-19 protocols don’t allow for this. I do hope to visit Cocos after the voyage to share research findings directly with the community.

We know from satellite measurements and historical geological expeditions that massive undersea mountains rise from the seafloor all around Cocos. Some of them are over 4 kilometres high and 70 km across. They were formed during the dinosaur era, up to 100 million years ago. There is one seamount about 150km to the southwest of Cocos that nearly reaches the surface – it will be a focus of our research after we leave Cocos itself. These underwater peaks were originally volcanos and many became islands at one point with their crater above the sea surface. But rocks that formed from the lava were very heavy, and so, once the volcanos stopped being active, they very slowly sank into the soft ocean floor. Many are now 1 to 2 km below the sea-surface. We are going to map many of these ancient underwater volcanos for the first time. Cocos (Keeling) Islands were formed in a similar way but molten rock under the ocean crust has kept sinking rates low enough for coral atolls to form on the seamount summits.

Nama saya Tim O’Hara dari Museums Victoria di Melbourne, dan saya adalah ketua saintis untuk pelayaran ini. Saya sangat gembira untuk menyelidiki lautan di sekitar Pulu Cocos. Tadinya saya berharap dapat bertemu dengan masyarakat dan memberi peluang kepada orang-orang untuk menaiki kapal, tapi sayangnya, protokol COVID-19 kapal tidak membenarkan. Saya berharap untuk melawat Cocos selepas pelayaran untuk berkongsi hasil penyelidikan dengan masyarakat.

Kami tahu dari pengukuran satelit dan sejarah ekspedisi geologis bahawa ada gunung-gunung bawah laut yang besar di sekitar Cocos. Berberapa di antaranya tinggi lebih dari 4 kilometer dan lebar 70 km. Ia terbentuk semasa era dinosaur, hingga 100 million tahun lalu. Ada satu gunung bawah laut sekitar 150km ke barat dayak Cocos yang hampir timbul – itu akan menjadi fokus penyelidikan kami setelah kami meninggalkan Cocos. Puncak di bawah laut ini awalnya adalah gunung berapi dan banyak yang menjadi pulu pada satu ketika dengan craternya di atas permukaan laut. Tetapi batu yang terbentuk daripada lava sangat berat, dan oleh itu, begitu gunung berapi berhenti aktif, ia perlahan-lahan tenggelam ke dalam laut. Kebanyakannya sekarang berada 1 hingga 2 km di bawah laut. Kami akan memeta kan banyak gunung berapi yang lama di bawah laut untuk pertama kali. Pulu Cocos terbentuk dengan cara yang sama tetapi molten rock di bawah lapisan tanah bawah laut membuat tingkat tenggelamnya cukup rendah untuk membentuk atol karang di puncak gunung bawah laut.

A deep sea hatchetfish. (image: Paul/Museums Victoria)

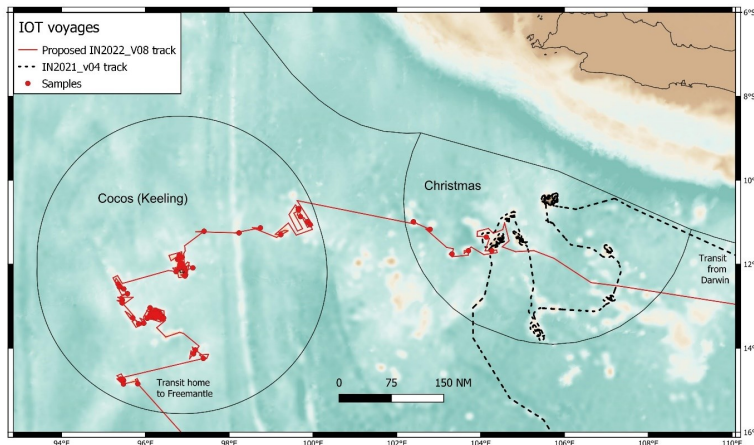

Hatchetfish ayer dalam. (gambar: Paul/Museums Victoria)

We expect these seamounts will be home to fascinating creatures like deep-sea coral and sponge gardens. There will probably be weird looking fish with huge fangs or with special organs that can produce their own light. We will be taking as many photos and videos as we can, so that people on Cocos and around Australia can see the special creatures that are hidden in these deep waters.

We are looking forward to connecting with Cocos school students and Cocos Marine Care via livestream during the voyage, and we want to thank the Parks Australia marine park team for providing funding to support this voyage.

Kami berharap gunung-gunung bawah laut ini akan menjadi tempat tinggal kepada binatang yang menarik seperti karang laut dan sponge gardens. Mungkin ada ikan yang nampak aneh dengan taring besar atau dengan organ khas yang boleh menghasilkan cahaya mereka sendiri. Kami akan mengambil gambar dan video sebanyak mungkin, supaya orang di Cocos dan sekitar Australia dapat melihat binatang khusus yang tersembunyi di perairan dalam ini.

Kami berharap dapat berhubung dengan anak sekolaan dan Cocos Marine Care melalui livestream semasa pelayaran, dan kami ingin berterima kasi kepada tim taman laut Parks Australia untuk menyediakan bantuan duit untuk menyokong pelayaran ini.

Proposed voyage track of the 2022 expedition on the RV Investigator to the IOT. T O'Hara/ Museums Victoria

Cadangan treck pelayaran ekspedisi 2022 di RV Investigator ke IOT. T O'Hara/Muzium Victoria

The voyage will provide new and fundamental knowledge of the deep-sea environment around Cocos to support management of the Cocos (Keeling) Islands Marine Park that the CKI community helped co-design during 2021.

The voyage has been made possible through a grant of sea-time on the RV Investigator by the CSIRO Marine National Facility. The research is being financially supported by Parks Australia and the Bush Blitz program of the Department of Energy, Climate Change, the Environment and Water. It is a national scientific collaboration with scientists participating from Museums Victoria, Australian Museum (Sydney), CSIRO, and Western Australian Museum.

Dr Tim O'Hara, Museums Victoria

Pelayaran ini akan memberikan pengetahuan baru tentang persekitaran laut dalam di sekitar Cocos untuk menyokong pengurusan Taman Laut Pulu Cocos yang masyarakat rancang bersama sepanjang tahun 2021.

Pelayaran telah dimungkingkan melalui duit bantuan melalui sea-time di RV Investigator oleh CSIRO Marine National Facility. Penyelidikan ini disokong secara keuang oleh Parks Australia dan program Bush Blitz dari Department of Energy, Climate Change, the Environment and Water. Ini adalah kerjasama saintifik kebangsaan dengan saintis yang mengambil bahagian dari Muzium Victoria, Australian Muzium (Sydney), CSIRO, dan Western Australian Muzium.

What is bail? II

These are short articles about legal issues that may interest you. They are not legal advice. You should always get individual legal advice for your situation.

This is the second of four articles about bail. In this article we will look at what things the police or court must think about when deciding whether to give you bail or refuse you bail. We will look at when there must be “exceptional circumstances” for you to be given bail. We will also look at what a bail undertaking is and how you agree to it.

If you are refused bail you are not released back into the community but must stay in custody until your charge has been dealt with.

If you are an adult there is no automatic right for you to get bail. If you are a child there is a qualified right to bail, which means you have some rights related to bail.

What must the police or court consider when deciding whether to give you bail?

Some of the things that must be considered by the person deciding whether you can be given bail (the police or the court) are:

1. If the person making the decision thinks that you might:
 - Not come to court when required
 - Commit an offence
 - Be a danger to anyone’s safety or their welfare or property or
 - Interfere with witnesses or the course of justice.
2. Whether you need to be kept in custody for your own safety.
3. Whether the prosecutor has given grounds for opposing bail.
4. Whether the proper conduct of the trial could be affected unless you are in custody during the trial.
5. Whether there are any conditions that can be put on your bail to make sure that you come to court when required and don’t interfere with witnesses or to protect your safety or to address the prosecutor’s opposition to you getting bail.
6. If you have been charged with an offence relating to a child, whether a condition can be put on your bail making you live elsewhere to where the child is living.
7. Whether the alleged offence is so serious that it is inappropriate to give you bail.

When the court or police are thinking about whether you might not come to court when required, or commit an offence, they must take into account these things:

- The seriousness of the offence or offences and how you might be sentenced if you are convicted.
- Your character, criminal history, who you associate with, your home environment, background, where you live and your financial position.
- The history of any other grants of bail to you (for example, have you complied with your bail before).
- The strength of the evidence against you.

The situations where you must show “exceptional circumstances” to be given bail

There are some situations where you have to show exceptional circumstances as to why you should not be refused bail and kept in custody.

These situations include:

1. If you are already on bail for a “serious” offence under the Bail Act, and you are then charged with another “serious” offence, you must show exceptional reasons as to why you should not be kept in custody.

“Serious” offences are:

- Those listed in a particular part of the Bail Act and
- Breaching (breaking) protective bail conditions (conditions on your bail designed to protect people).

So if you have already been charged with one of these serious offences and given bail, but you then commit and are charged with another of these serious offences, you will have to show exceptional circumstances as to why you should not be kept in custody until your charges are dealt with.

2. If you have been released from jail on “parole” (parole is where you are allowed to serve the rest of your jail sentence in the community) and you commit and are charged with one of the serious offences listed in the Bail Act.

3. If you have been charged with murder. Your application for bail can only be dealt with by a judge of the Supreme Court.

4. If you have been declared a serial family violence offender and you have been charged with a family violence offence. There is a definition of what a serial family violence offender is.

There are a few other situations where you must show exceptional reasons as to why you should be granted bail for an offence.

If you are given bail

If you are granted bail you must enter into a written undertaking (promise) to the court to come to court on the next and each court date, comply with any conditions on your bail and comply with any home detention bail conditions. You do this by signing the bail undertaking.

In the third article, we will look at the conditions that can be attached to your bail.

Apakah itu jaminan? II

Ini adalah artikel pendek mengenai perkara undang-undang yang mungkin menarik untuk anda. Ini bukan nasihat undang-undang. Anda mesti selalu mendapatkan nasihat undang-undang sendiri untuk keadaan anda.

Ini adalah artikel kedua dari empat artikel tentang jaminan. Dalam artikel ini kami akan melihat perkara yang polis atau mahkamah mesti fikirkan apabila memutuskan sama ada untuk kasi anda jaminan atau menolak jaminan. Kami akan melihat kapan harus ada “keadaan luar biasa” untuk anda dikasi jaminan. Kami juga akan melihat apa itu jaminan dan bagaimana anda menyetujuinya.

Jika anda ditolak dengan jaminan anda tidak dibebaskan tetapi harus tetap berada dalam tahanan sampai tuduhan anda diselesaikan.

Jika anda sudah dewasa tidak ada hak otomatis bagi anda untuk mendapatkan jaminan. Jika anda seorang anak-anak ada hak yang memenuhi syarat untuk jaminan, yang berarti anda mempunyai beberapa hak yang berkaitan dengan jaminan.

Apakah yang harus di pertimbangkan oleh polis atau mahkamah ketika memutuskan apakah akan kasi anda jaminan?

Beberapa hal yang harus di pertimbangkan oleh orang yang memutuskan apakah anda boleh dikasi jaminan (polis atau mahkamah) adalah:

1. Jika orang yang membuat keputusan berfikir bahawa anda mungkin:
 - Tidak datang ke mahkamah bila diperlukan
 - Melakukan kesalahan
 - Menjadi bahaya kepada keselamatan siapa pun atau keselamatan atau harta benda mereka atau
 - Mengganggu saksi atau mengganggu keadilan.
2. Apakah anda perlu ditahan untuk keselamatan anda sendiri.
3. Apakah pihak pendakwa telah memberikan alasan untuk menentang jaminan.
4. Apakah perbicaraan mahkamah yang benar dapat terpengaruh kecuali anda berada dalam tahanan semasa perbicaraan mahkamah.
5. Apakah ada syarat yang boleh diberikan pada jaminan anda untuk memastikan anda datang ke mahkamah bila diperlukan dan tidak mengganggu saksi atau untuk melindungi keselamatan anda atau untuk mengatasi tentangan pihak pendakwa terhadap anda mendapatkan jaminan.
6. Jika anda telah dituduh dengan kesalahan yang berkaitan dengan anak-anak, sama ada syarat boleh dikenakan dengan jaminan anda membuat anda tinggal di tempat lain di mana anak itu tinggal.
7. Apakah kesalahan yang di tuduh adalah sangat serius sehingga tidak pantas untuk kasi anda jaminan.

Apabila mahkamah atau polis memikirkan sama ada anda mungkin tidak datang ke mahkamah apabila diperlukan, atau melakukan kesalahan, mereka harus mempertimbangkan perkara yang berikut:

- Keseriusan kesalahan dan bagaimana anda boleh dihukum jika anda terbukti bersalah.
- Sifat anda, sejarah kriminal, dengan siapa anda bergaul, suasana rumah anda, latar belakang, tempat tinggal anda dan keadaan keuangan anda.
- Sejarah sebarang pemberian jaminan lain kepada anda (contohnya, apakah anda telah memenuhi jaminan anda sebelum ini).
- Kekuatan bukti terhadap anda.

Keadaan di mana anda harus menunjukkan “keadaan luar biasa” untuk dikasi jaminan

Ada beberapa keadaan di mana anda harus menunjukkan keadaan luar biasa tentang mengapa anda tidak boleh di tolak dengan jaminan dan ditahan.

Keadaan ini termasuk:

1. Jika anda sudah dalam jaminan untuk kesalahan “serius” di bawah Undang-Undang Jaminan, dan anda kemudian di tuduh dengan kesalahan “serius” yang lain, anda harus menunjukkan alasan yang luar biasa mengapa anda tidak boleh ditahan.

Kesalahan “serius” adalah:

- Yang di lis dalam bagian tertentu dari Undang-Undang Jaminan dan
- Melanggar (melanggar) syarat jaminan perlindungan (syarat pada jaminan anda di buat untuk melindungi orang).

Jadi jika anda telah dituduh dengan salah satu kesalahan serius ini dan dikasi jaminan, tetapi kemudian anda melakukan dan dituduh dengan satu lagi kesalahan yg serius, anda harus tunjukkan keadaan luar biasa tentang mengapa anda tidak boleh ditahan sampai tuduhan anda diselesaikan.

2. Jika anda telah dibebaskan dari kurungan dengan “parole” (parole adalah di mana anda boleh menjalankan sisa hukuman kurung anda di luar) dan anda melakukan dan dituduh dengan salah satu kesalahan serius yang di lis di dalam Undang-Undang Jaminan.
3. Jika anda di tuduh dengan pembunuhan. Permohonan anda untuk jaminan hanya boleh di tangani oleh hakim di Supreme Court.
4. Jika anda telah dinyatakan sebagai pelaku kekerasan dalam keluarga yang berterusan dan anda telah dituduh dengan kesalahan kekerasan dalam keluarga. Ada maksud tentang apa itu pelaku kekerasan dalam keluarga yang berterusan.

Ada beberapa keadaan dimana anda harus tunjukkan alasan luar biasa mengapa anda harus dikasi jaminan untuk suatu kesalahan.

Jika anda dikasi jaminan

Jika anda dikasi jaminan anda harus membuat perjanjian tertulis (janji) ke mahkamah untuk datang ke mahkamah pada hari mahkamah berikutnya dan setiap hari mahkamah, mengikut persyaratan jaminan anda dan mengikut persyaratan jaminan penahanan rumah. Anda melakukan ini dengan mendatangi perjanjian jaminan.

Dalam artikel ketiga, kami akan melihat syarat-syarat yang boleh disertakan dengan jaminan anda.

Tips for Living a Better Life.

1. Minimize your material possessions and focus on quality over quantity. True joy is found in beauty and passion, not in “things”.

2. Remember, garbage in, garbage out. Set a strict filter for what you will allow into your mind and life and never underestimate the impact that things have on your mindset.

3. Express gratitude daily. As Tony Robbins says, “When gratitude appears, fear disappears.” If you want to supercharge your life and success, then don’t just eliminate the negativity, replace it with positive self talk and daily gratitude.

4. Take your sleep seriously. It will make a huge difference in how you feel and act.

5. Focus on building an amazing life. Not just making more money. Lifestyle comes first, money comes second.

6. Learn to say “No”. You don’t owe anyone anything so stop letting other people’s desires control your life.

7. Remember that success takes time. Success happens by compounding small daily actions over time.

8. Laugh daily. Laughter truly is the best medicine.

9. Choose Yourself. If not you... Then who?

10. Remember that you are going to die. If we are all going to die anyways, then you might as well live this life as best as you can because, as far as we know, it’s the only one we get.

Cocos Resident Profile

Name: Nakia Haji Dolman

Kampong Name: Mak Nafiz

Place of Birth: Subiaco, WA.

Where were you living before Cocos?

In 2018 my family moved to Perth. 3 years later, we decided we wanted to escape from the COVID-19 pandemic and come home. The city life was definitely not for us!

What are you doing now?

My second year working at CIDHS as an Education Assistant Special Needs – Full time!

What are the top 3 things you love about living on Cocos?

The slower paced relaxed lifestyle, the tranquility, and the Community Spirit. What more could you ask for.

Fav, sport/activity?

I really enjoy going camping, fishing and anything water sports.

Fav. 3 places on Cocos?

Pulu Siput, my front garden, and Turtle Beach.

Fav. Cocos Food?

Too many to share. But rice, freshly caught fish grilled in an open fire with EXTRA HOT chili soy sauce is always a hit!

If you could change Cocos what would you do first?

This place is a paradise, but I'd certainly improve the flights, food, mail, and freight services! I'm sure everyone agrees with me on that one.

If you were stranded on North Keeling Island for 1 year, what 3 items would you require?

My hubby- Ozzie (so he can catch dinner), my phone (don't want to miss out on the goss') and RICE- can't live without that!

List some of the things you are passionate about?

I am passionate about my family– love them! FOOD, shopping (it's a women thing) and to experience/learn new things.

The Hunters are competing again in this years NRL WA Harmony Cup along side Christmas Island for the as part of the second IOT Rugby League team.

The boys on Cocos and in Perth have all being training hard and are looking forward to meeting up with CI boys once we are all down in Perth.

Harmony Cup is set to be bigger again this year. It is being held at Lark Hill Sporting Complex in Rockingham and would be great to see everyone come along and support the boys.
